

Good Morning,

I am sure many of you saw the news last night or have heard the hype about a school shooting being planned for today.

I received information from the DOE and the state police yesterday that a TikTok posting had been made in NH about a school-shooting happening on December 17, 2021. Both sources stated clearly that this was a non-credible threat, and just wanted superintendents to be made aware in case of rumors circulating.

I informed the Administrative Team and the School Board about the information I received not long afterward. And, at that time, I felt there was no need to create panic by sharing a non-credible threat beyond that inner circle of people. Unfortunately, the media has done their usual of making mountains out of molehills and folks are nervous - and if the bad guys didn't have ideas - now they might...

Our buildings have door lock systems where folks have to be identified and buzzed into the buildings, and we have a great SRO that will be making the rounds today - I believe your children are safe.

Thank you for your patience and understanding.

Bonnie
